

Stop the Megaloads Teach-In Hosted by Caywaaspoo

Caywaaspoo, a group of Nimiipuu Nation members and allies, is hosting a community teach-in about the megaloads scheduled to travel through Nimiipuu territory, with the aim of fostering community awareness and dialogue on this issue.

Sunday, September 15th

4:00 - 6:00 pm

The Cave
118 Main St
Lapwai, Idaho

Photo from Boise Weekly

AP Photo/Lewiston Tribune, Steve Hawks

The Spokesman Review Photo, Kip Hill

The main objectives of the Teach-In are to provide the Nimiipuu Nation and community a background on the Megaloads and history of Nimiipuu activism, including the perspectives of members of the nation who wish to share their knowledge on the subject. We will discuss what the Megaloads are, and why our nation wants to stop the Megaloads and support other Indigenous communities in their struggles against the Tar Sands. After this discussion, we will have a community forum.

Updated information on the court case and legalities will be included in the Teach-In, in preparation for future developments and actions.

For more information please contact Ciarra Greene:
ciarrag@nezperce.org

We encourage ALL youth and elders to participate -- ALL AGES are welcome.

Please bring an open mind, positive attitude, and ideas for next steps.
